We collect the nation's taxes and ensure that the tax laws are applied fairly.

We protect the integrity of the national banking system.

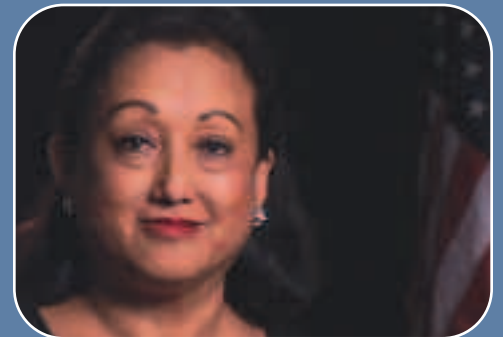

We protect American democracy and let the public know who contributes to federal candidates.

We ensure the safety of America's food, drugs, medical device and cosmetic products.

We help consumers and businesses preserve and protect their trademark and patent rights.

We help finance the federal government to provide the services to keep our country running.

We protect the air you breathe and the water you drink.

We work to improve the energy security of the United States and to safeguard our nuclear weapons.

We are on the frontlines guarding against terrorism.
